2 Reason for discontinuation

The worldwide shortage of raw materials required for the manufacturing of semiconductor products has resulted in a key component used in the manufacture of the CB-OBS419 module series is no longer available from our supplier.

As the situation is unlikely to improve during the remainder of 2021 or throughout 2022, u-blox has taken the decision to announce the "End-Of-Life" of the CB-OBS419 module series.

As no further deliveries of this key component are expected, we are unable to accept any further orders for the CB-OBS419 module series.

3 Customer impact and recommended action

- Successor products will require re-design of the hardware
- Successor products will require re-design of several AT commands on the host microcontroller
- Product deliveries against previously placed orders cannot be guaranteed, and shortfalls against originally requested products have to be expected. No further deliveries will be made once existing stock is depleted.
- New orders will not be accepted
